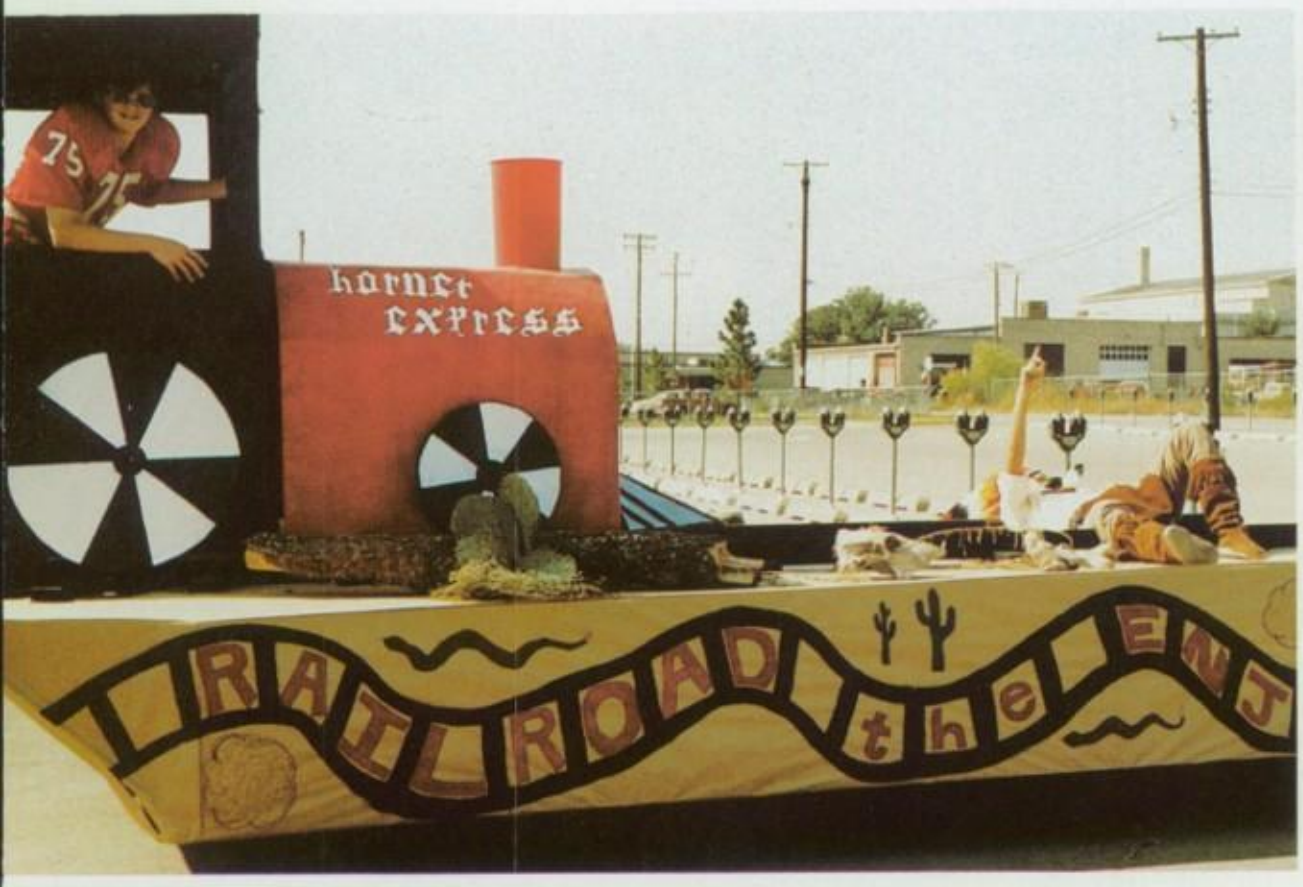
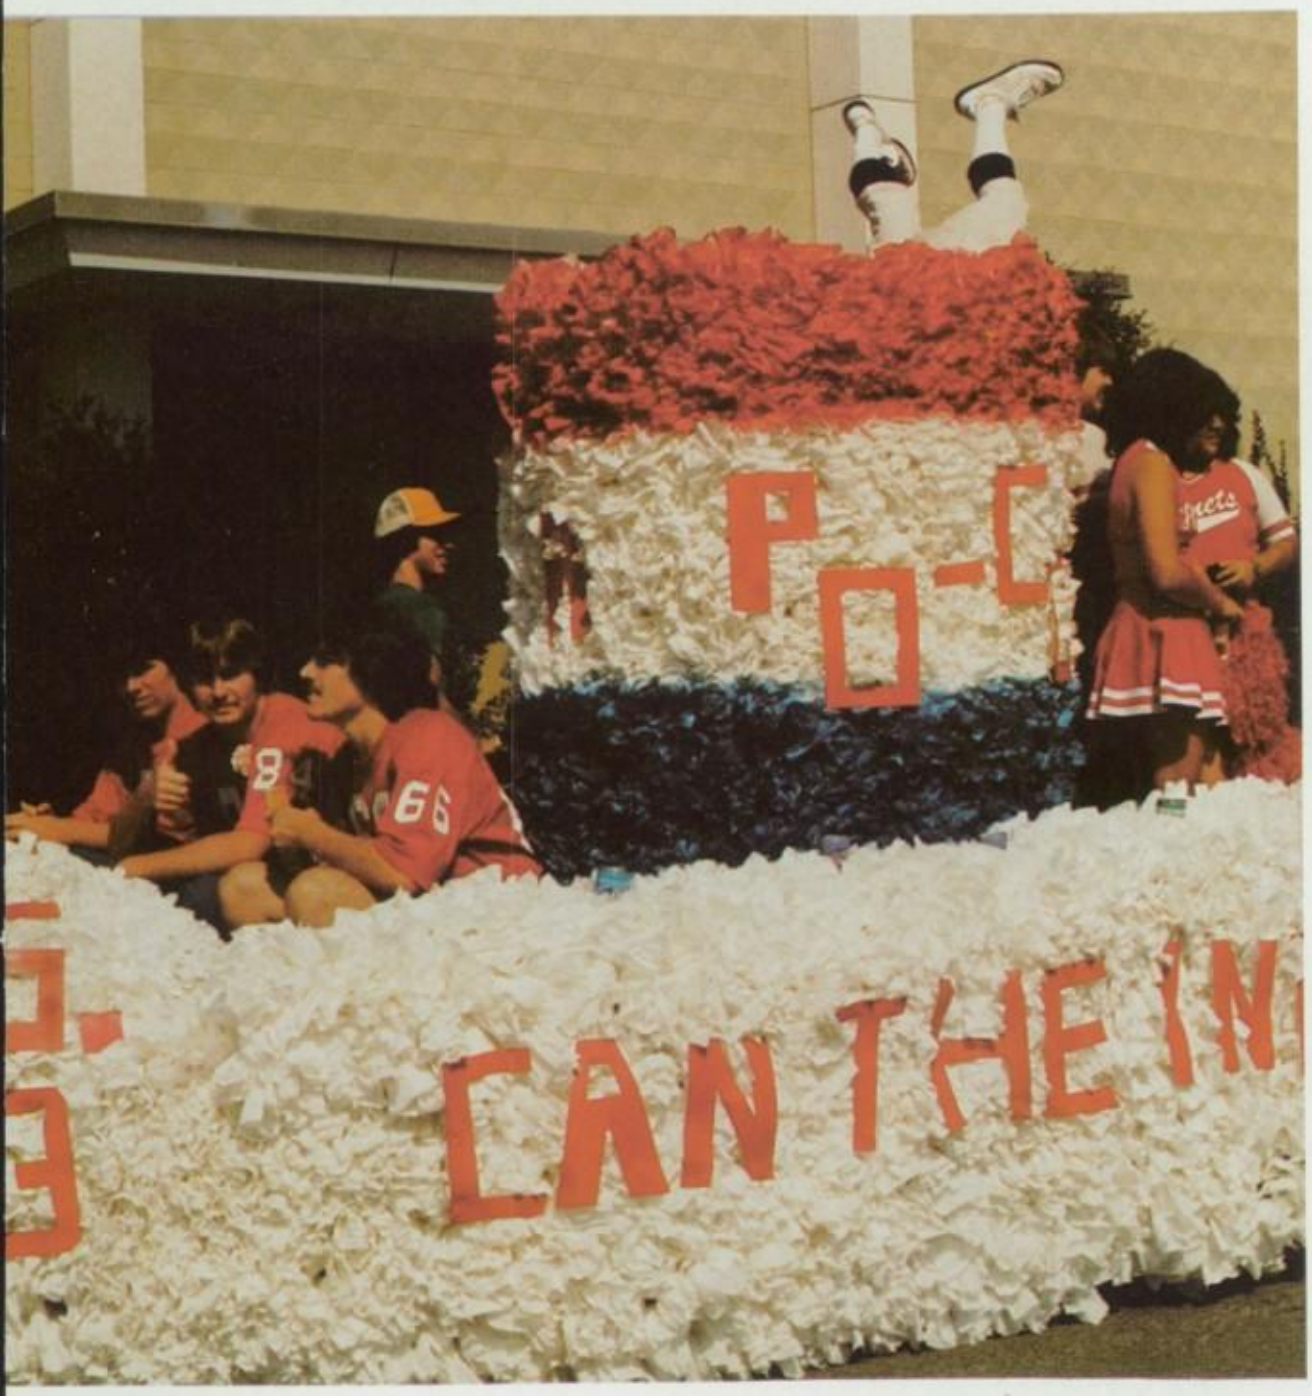
SPIRITS ARE FLOATING HIGH

PRIDE INSIDE





After a forward march whistle, the Crimson Challenge led an anxious procession downtown.

The freshmen emerged victorious in the float competition with "Swinging to Victory." They carried out the theme in an old southern tradition with three freshmen girls, clad in formals, sitting on swings escorted by two football players. "Railroad the Injuns," sophomore entry, chugged behind in second place, featuring a train engine, complete with steam. Hobbling in third place was the junior float, "Defeet the Indians." This unusual float enlisted a guillotine which viciously snapped at the Indians' feet. "Can Pocola," the senior float, rattled into fourth place.

The Hornet team made all of the float titles come true as they "defeated, railroaded, and canned" the Pocola Indians to "swing to victory" on homecoming night.

REVEALING OUR INNER SELVES

PRIDE INSIDE

Ghosts, ghouls, a devil, a clown, and even Santa Claus turned out for the first Halloween dress-up day.

Book characters came to life as both faculty and students wore anything from punk to junk. A fly from Lord of the Flies and an elf were seen scurrying down the halls. John Shackleford and Thomas Lavendusky took the $10 prize by portraying the Blues Brothers. Mrs. Watson, Lotus Flower from The Good Earth, took the teacher's prize.

Darth Vader and Bugs Bunny were among 200 people who danced the night away after the football game against Inola.

Live music was provided by Jacky Cantwell, Scott Farmer, Barry Smith, and Rodney McCaslin. A disc jockey from Lunar Tunes of Tulsa supplied the music and a laser light show. This was an outstanding way to end the day for ghouls and ghosts alike.

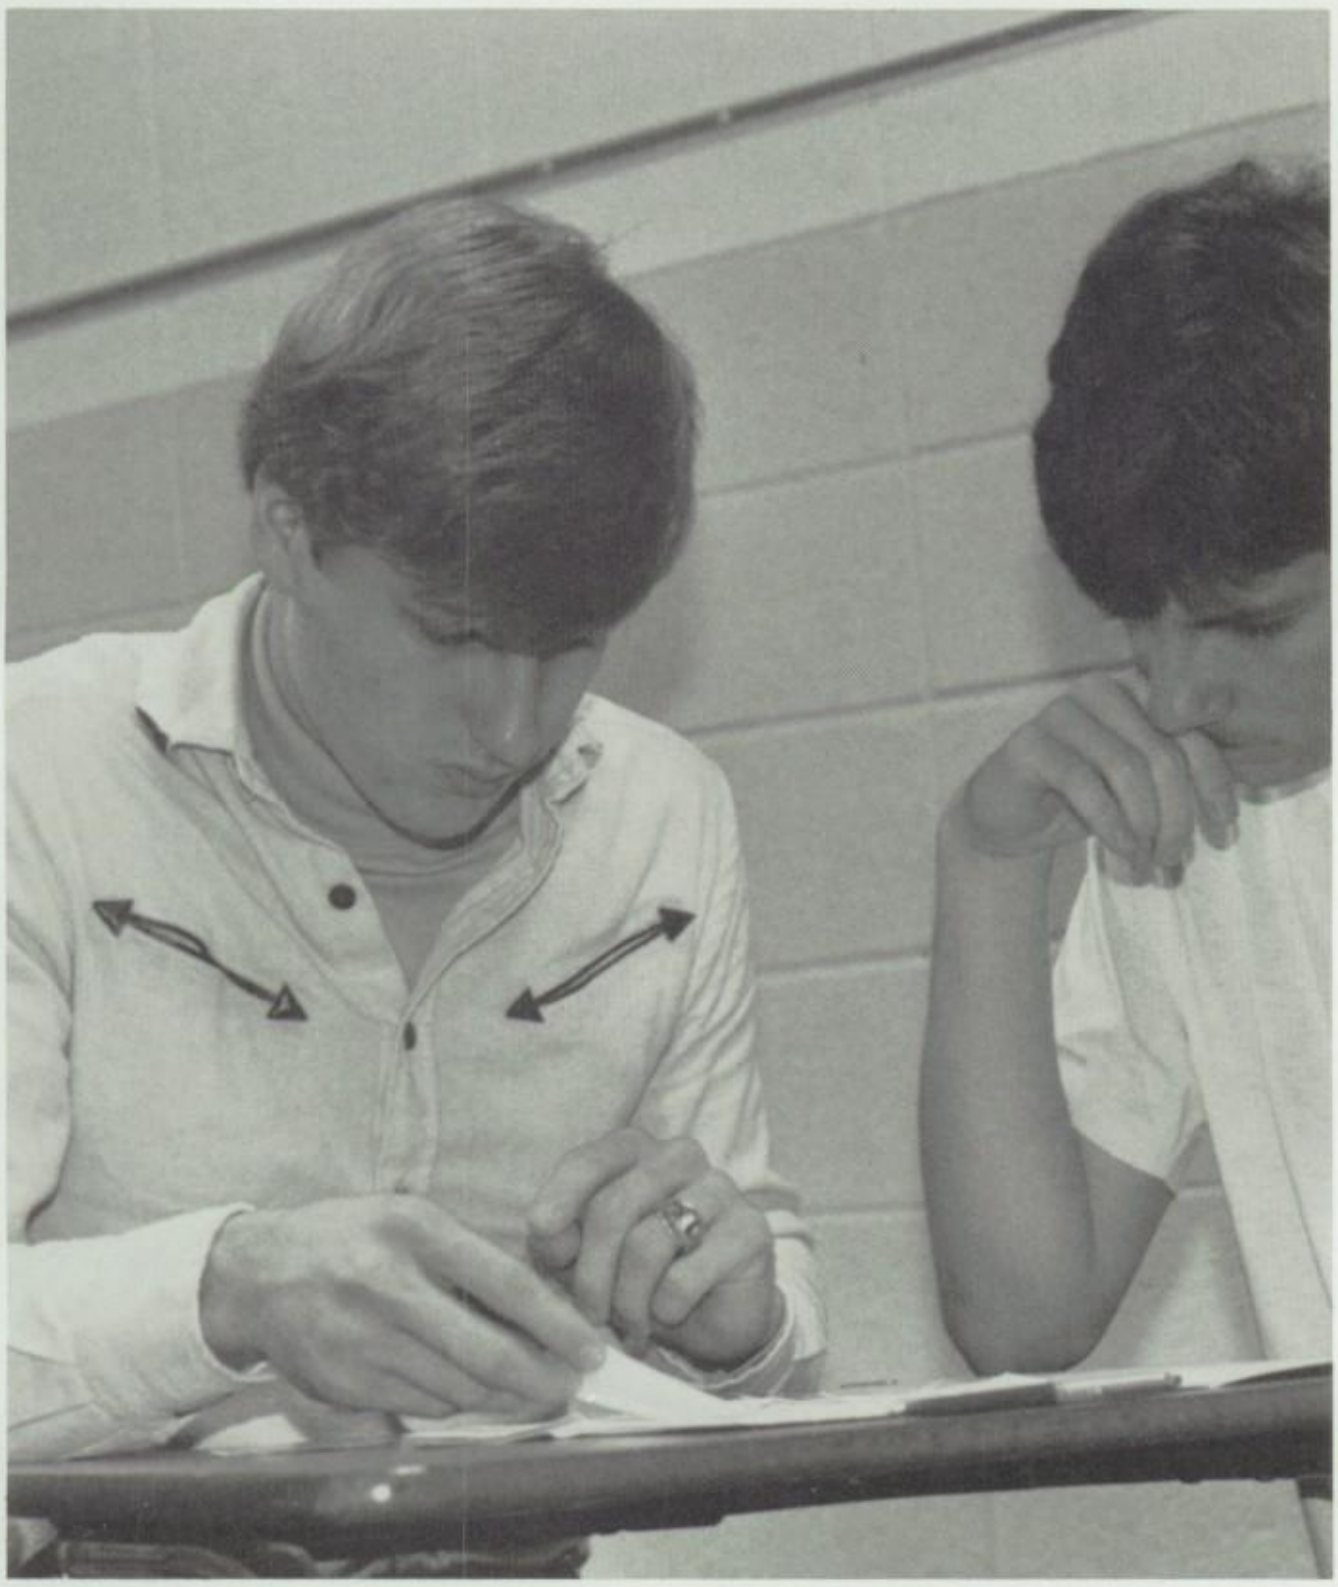
CLASS OF 1983

STUDENT LIFE



With prints, negatives, and french fries to go, the yearbook staff was on their way to creating a yearbook.

The beginning of the year found students surrounded by picas, layouts, copy, headlines, croppers, rule-a-heads, and typography. Once this jargon was mastered, the class was well on its way to the next important step — that of meeting deadlines.

Deadlines were complicated by the theft of all the camera equipment. The journalism class came to the rescue by sharing a camera.

The newspaper staff toured Franklin Graphics, where they were shown how pictures and layouts were reproduced. The yearbook staff traveled to Topeka, Kansas, for a tour of Josten's Yearbook Company. At the plant, students followed yearbooks through the complete cycle of production.

Even with the hustle of meeting deadlines, both staffs displayed a strong feeling of pride for their publications.

homecoming, a spirited week

Red and white and Hilldale spirit! This combination whipped up fun, excitement, and challenge all week long.

Spirit blazed through the middle school as they began their first homecoming week. Monday was fifties day, followed by a red and white day on Tuesday. Later that night the seventh and eighth grade teams were cheered on to victory with scores of 22-12 and 26-0.

Students at the school became involved in various activities throughout the week. Favorite T-shirt day kicked off the excitement on Monday. Hornet students became cool dudes on Tuesday as they wore their best hat-n-shades. Wednesday started out as sticky business for the student council during lick 'em day as they sold suckers to the students. Getting into the Pocola Indian fighting mood, Thursday galloped away with the ever popular western day. Students and teachers alike displayed their pride and spirit by wearing our school colors on Friday. The bleachers glowed with red and white during the afternoon assembly.

After school most of the students quickly rushed downtown to watch the homecoming parade.

Following our victory at the game, the cheerleaders, band, and drill team sponsored a spirit party. There was music, dancing, and refreshments to end a week that was as colorful as the pictures with memories as precious as gold.

then the queen gets a kiss!

Like Sleeping Beauty, Football Queen Kelly Newman, awoke with her magical kiss from Senior Randy Thompson. The audience, along with her court, cheered at her awakening.

The queen's court, who were chosen by the varsity football team, consisted of three attendants and their escorts.

The excitement of the week was doubled by the fact that this was the first year for this senior class to have any type of queen. Past queens were members of the first graduating class, the class of '82.

Sometimes minor things like a backdrop are overlooked until the last minute. This minor thing turned into a major thing as Queen Kelly Newman and Senior Attendant Janet Pace hastily put together the backdrop on the day of the coronation.

The queen was crowned at an all-school assembly. As the queen and her court walked onto the football field, bright flashes were seen everywhere. Fans kept cameras clicking while taking pictures of the procession, the crowning, and the queen's kiss.

After school, the queen and her court joined the band, drill team, cheerleaders, and class floats for the homecoming parade. That evening at the game, they were once again presented for family and friends.

Even though that day and week are over, the excitement and honor will never be forgotten by those who were involved.

stucco a multi-talented organization

A greased pole climbing contest, a toy drive, a canned food drive — did you ever wonder who thought up these and many more ideas?

The high school student council painted the football bleachers, sold spirit items, organized football homecoming, sold hams, and turkeys, sponsored a "Rock'n in the New Year" party, and held an open forum for the candidates running for the school board.

Yukon, Oklahoma, was the location for the state convention held in November. Getting students involved was the main emphasis during the three day event.

Willing to use their time unselfishly, the middle school student council sold doughnuts before school on Tuesdays and Thursdays to raise money. They also held a canned food drive to help needy families during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Throughout the school year both student councils did many outstanding things for the school and community.

crowning captures school's "hart"

As hearts filled with anxiety and stomaches filled with butterflies, the long awaited climax of a week filled with many events finally arrived.

The most exciting part of the homecoming week was the selection of the queen. Anticipation was the key word for the girls who were secretly hoping that they would reign as this year's queen. The announcement was made and the anticipation was over for this year.

Preparation for the coronation became the center of focus. February 4, 1983, was the date that an excited Hope Leslie Hart reigned as Hilldale High's third annual basketball queen. Scott Farmer pesented Miss Hart with the traditional red robe, crown, flowers, and, of course, a kiss.

"A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" sounded through the Hornets' gym as the Crimson Challenge played for the royalty.

The Dazzlers and cheerleaders displayed their respect as they stood at attention during the procession and coronation.

The queen and her court, adorned in formals of white, baby-blue, lavender, and burgundy, proceeded down the basketball court with their escorts dressed in their best attire closely at their sides.

Encouraging words filled the cold mornings as the Crimson Challenge and the Dazzlers marched their way to pride and victory this year. The groups received several awards in parade competitions and field marching, including first place honors for the jazz ensemble at both Southwestern and Northeastern State Colleges.

band crowns first queen

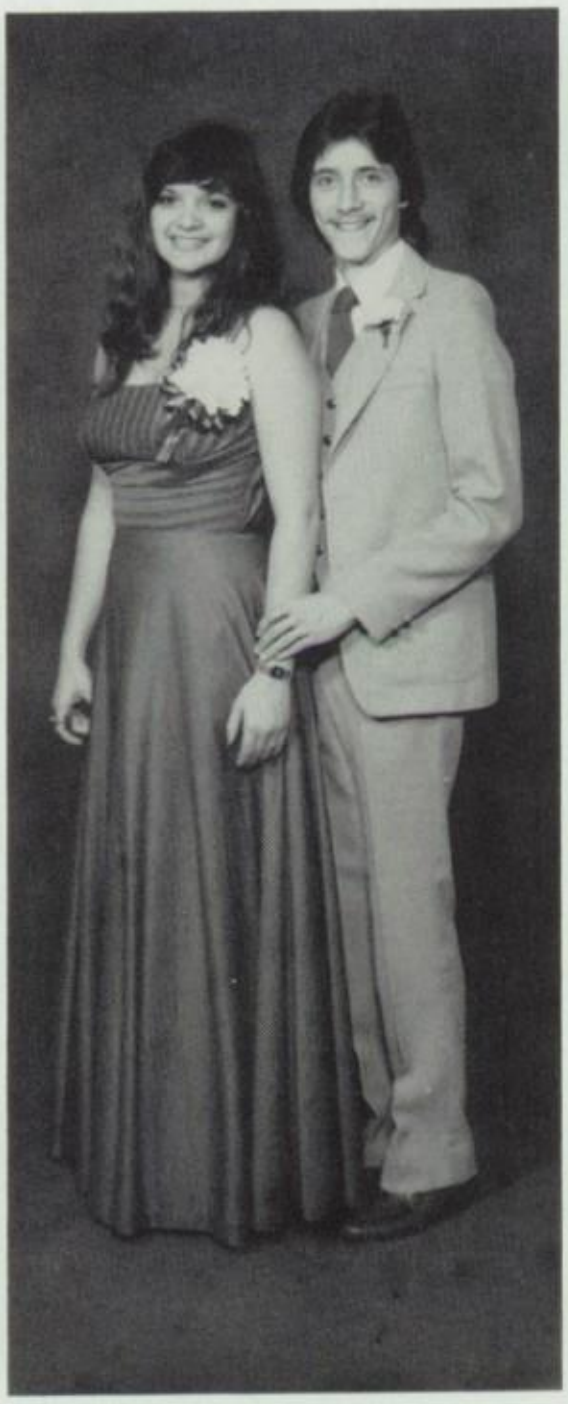
Continuing a tradition of firsts, Hilldale crowned its first annual band queen March 14.

Beverly Davis was selected to reign as queen by the high school band and drill team.

The queen and her court were chosen from the girls of the band and drill team. The queen and first attendant were chosen from the senior class members, the second attendant from the junior class members, and the third attendant from either the sophomore or the freshman class members. The girls chose their own escorts from the band.

Cutting out letters, getting a backdrop together, and glittering banners were a part of the preparations for the afternoon coronation.

"If You Believe" was played by the Crimson Challenge as the procession began. Smiling faces surrounded Beverly as she was presented red roses, a crown, and a kiss.



Ringing through the gym was "Pac Man Fever." The Dazzlers performed their routine of the popular video game. To entertain the student body and friends who had gathered, the Crimson Challenge played "Private Eyes," "We Got the Beat," and the Horners' "Fight Song."

Carrying the roses was Amber Nidiffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cody Nidifer. Joey Fast, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fast, served as Crown Bearer. After the ceremony, they were awarded a treat. Queen Beverly gave each of them a package of life savers for going such a fine job.

spirit animates students!

"Go Horners!" echoed across the battlefield as the high school cheerleaders rallied their team to victory.

Beginning in June, the eight member squad and one sponsor got ready for a spirited week. They traveled to the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville for four days of learning various chants, cheers, and pyramids.

One outstanding accomplishment of the group was the ability to do breathtaking pyramids. Everything great had to come to an end as one by one the casualties took their toll. From twisted knees and ankles to mild concussions, the cheerleaders were plagued by accidents.

The squad worked very hard at trying to raise spirit this year and, even with casts and bandages, stopped at nothing to get it.

Working in the concession stand, holding rummage and bake sales, and selling pins were just a few fund raising projects supported by the middle school cheerleaders.

During football season, school spirit was promoted by awarding the most enthusiastic class with a spirit stick each week. It would be presented to the winner after the pep assembly was over and the decision was made.

Throughout the year, the cheerleaders helped to bring leadership, pride, and much school spirit to Hilldale Middle School.

regal queen is treasured

Green wasn't all there was to St. Patrick's Day of 1983. It also marked the first election of an All School Queen for Hilldale High.

Each homeroom class selected their candidate for the occasion. They were as follows: Keeley Tatum, Mr. Cobb's room; Gina Roberts, Mrs. Chastain's room; Lisa Rogers, Mrs. Cox's room; Christy Cannarsa, Mrs. Freeling's room; Rita Lienhart, Mrs. Hollingworth's room; Marsha Wakely, Mrs. Maples' room; Ronia Corbell, Mrs. Nidiffer's room; Lori Gibson, Mrs. Pate's room; Melissa Morris, Mrs. Schwarz's room; Shelley Graves, Mrs. Shutler's room; Deborah Neill, Mr. Stout's room; Letha Page, Mr. Swanson's Room; Jessie Mellon, Mr. Thompson's room; Jean Ayers, Mrs. Watson's room; Teresa Chapple, Mr. William's room; Karla Hart, Mrs. Wynn's room; and Jowanna Jones, Vo-Tech.

Candidates efforts to raise money varied. A total of one thousand, eight hundred, and twenty-three dollars was collected. The Student Council scholarship fund gained one thousand dollars, and the remaining eight hundred and twenty-three dollars was used on a project approved by the student body.

Third runner up was sophomore, Jessie Mellon, raising $159.50. Second runner up was junior, Lori Gibson, raising $270. Sophomore, Ronia Corbell, served as first runner up, raising $390. Gina Roberts, a sophomore, reigned as All School Queen, by raising a total of $430.

Miss Roberts was crowned at the Spring Fling Dance, March 17.

"Even the Nights Are Better," Gina's favorite song, nehan to play as her escort, Tim King, led her to the dance floor where they were joined by the Queen's Court. The attendants and their escorts were Jessie Mellon and Tim Allen; Lori Gibson and Shawn Pumphrey; Ronia Corbell and Scott Gaddy.

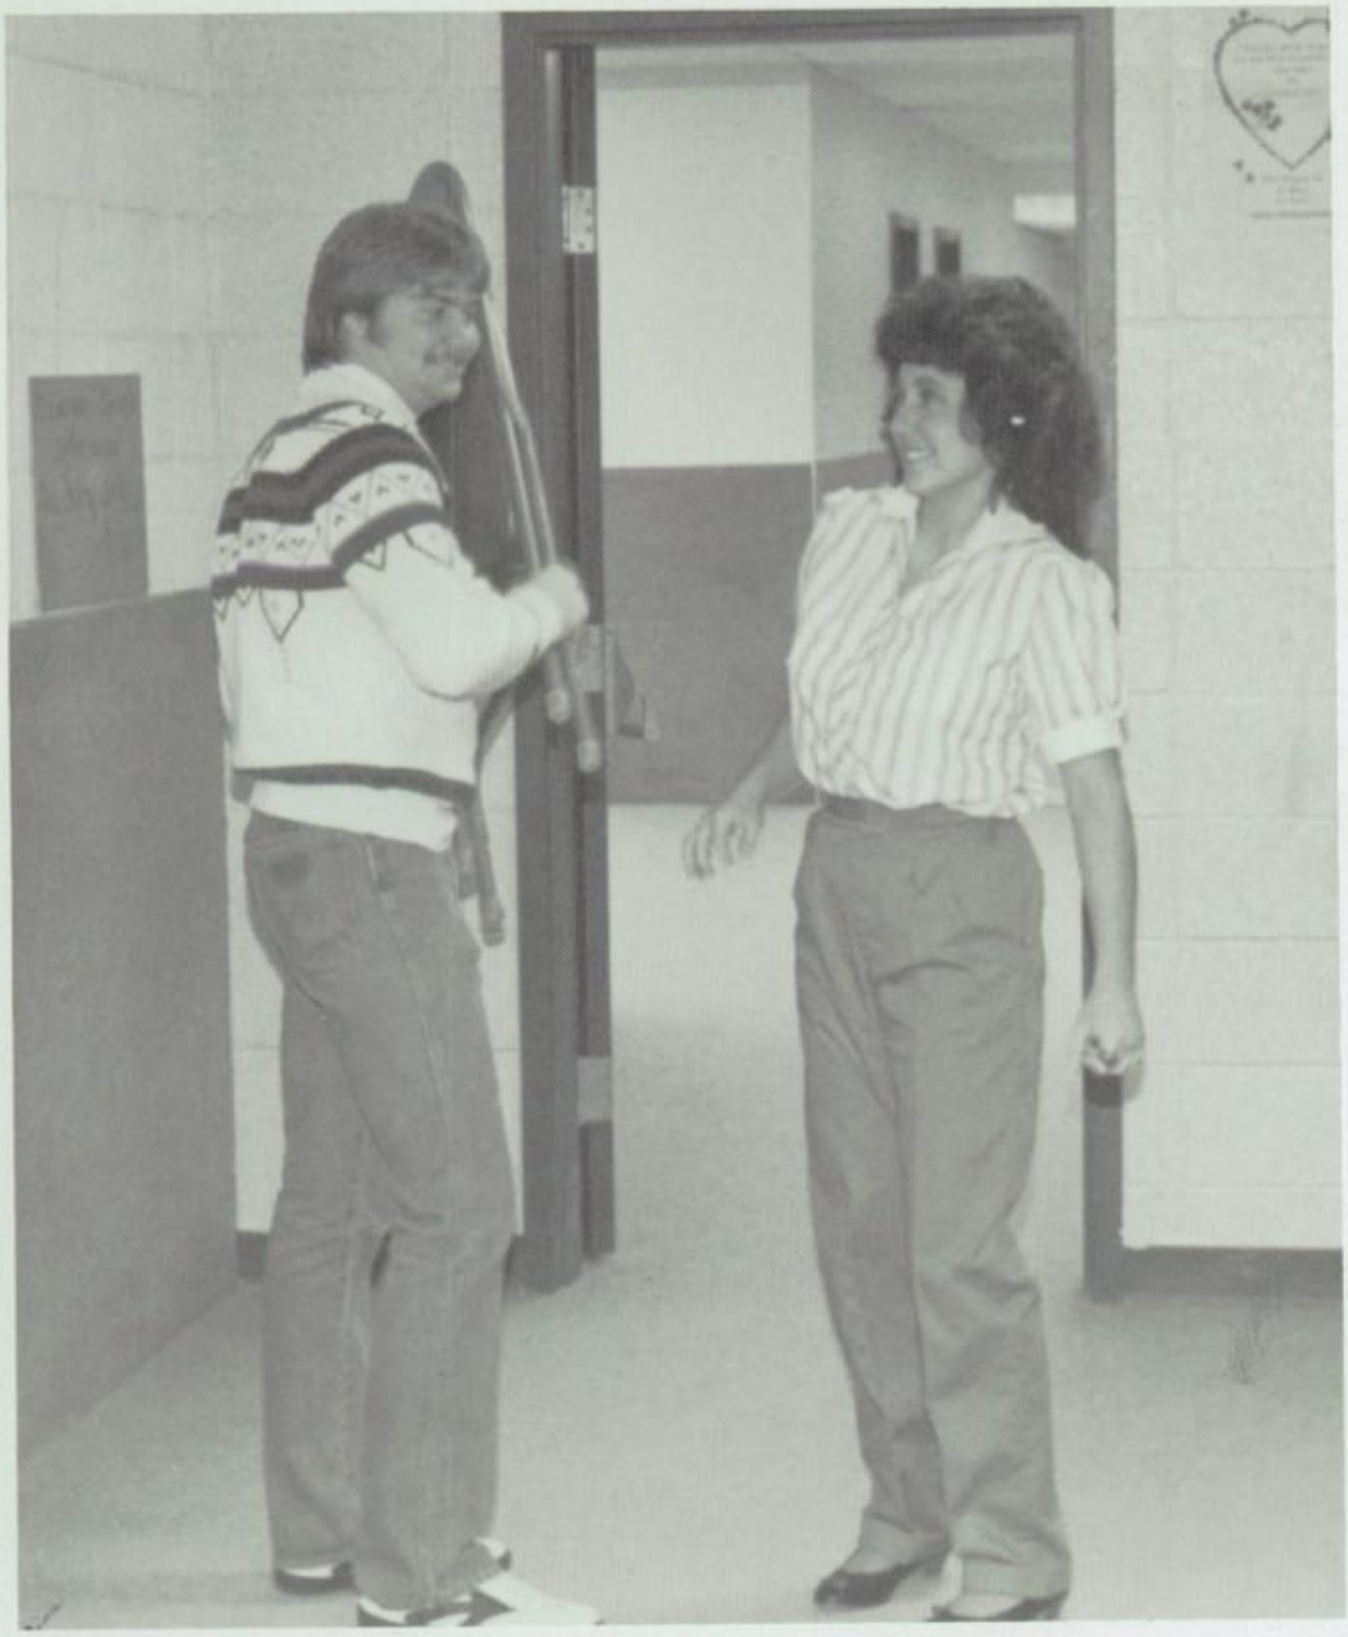
SENIORS



WHO'S WHO

Armed with a baseball bat and the lid of a garbage can, Olzawski's Apes heartedly entertained at pep assemblies as well as basketball games. They promoted school spirit with cartwheels and other stunts while their leader, Charlie, proved that the title of Class Clown extends outside the classroom. "If you're looking for a laugh, just go talk to Charlie," said one of his senior classmates.

In addition to serving as majorette for four years, Sheryl Wiedel displayed her talent by playing the oboe and also auditioning for the all-state honor band.

Seldom seen in the halls without broad smiles stretched across their faces or a welcoming "hi" was Hope Hart and Jacky Cantwell. They shared the title of Friendliest.

Most Likely To Succeed is perhaps one of the most honored titles. Gaining this recognition was Beverly Davis and Grant Rackley. Beverly plans to attend Oklahoma State University, and Grant plans to attend NEOSU after high school graduation. Besides being members of both the Oklahoma Honor Society and National Honor Society, they also tackled numerous other activities throughout the school year.

These were just a few of the personalities that were discovered when Who's Who was chosen. Selections were based on votes cast by the senior English classes.

I, David Acord, being of both sound mind and body do hereby will my blinding speed, amazing intelligence, and ability to be loved by small journalism teachers to Darrin McDaniel.

I, Cynthia Acuff, will my ability to be on time for class to Dyrenda Padgett.

I, Timothy Everrt Allen, being of sound (and alert) mind (?) and healthy body will my super enthusiasm toward school work and the ability to stay awake in class (no matter how boring the subject may be) to any underclassman who wishes to get some extra sleep next year.

I, Lori L. Barton, being of somewhat sound mind and body, do hereby will all my fond memories of Mr. Burke and my amazing ability to speak German to David Wehrle.

I, Dawn Bass, will my fast-talking ability to Shawn Raper.

I, Cindy Broaddus, will all of my old steno notebooks to Mrs. Shutler. May our fifth hour class haunt her.

I, Ronna Kay Bryson, will all my charlies to Audrey Porter and to Shelia Moore all my twinkies on the bus. And to Jowanna Jones one free month to the Wall's Drivers Ed. School for Beginners, but she must bring one burnt garment to get the lessons.

I, Candy Lynn Busby, will my catching abilities plus my bad knee to Susan Ayers, my drill team uniform to Missy Landrum, and to Jody Jones my speed if she can handle it.

I, Jacky Cantwell, hereby will my charm and friendliness to Monty Beck. If this doesn't work, I also will my locker room petition for him to take out his anger — I know he'll need it.

I, Ken Cooper, will my great trombone playing ability to Mike Felts.

I, Beverly Davis, will the yearbook staff and all the trials of putting it together to Shawn Raper.

I, Melissa Dixon, living in the state of confusion, hereby will my ability to keep my mouth shut to Daniel Rehanek who must share it with Stephen Hoffman.

I, Dave Dunham, being of sound mind and body, leave nothing. I'm taking it with me.

I, Scott Farmer, being of sound mind and body, will all my old and broken sax reeds to Jim Causon.

I, Brent Featherston, leave my high note playing to Tony Townsend and Charlie John.

I, Gary Garrison, being of sound mind and body do hereby will my leadership ability to Lyle Mathis in hopes that he can lead our school through any dilemma they might face.

I, Fran Glasgow, will my incredible height and ability to the girls basketball team for next year. Also, the boys team if they need it.

I, Shelley Graves, will my hair brush to Susan Ayers.

I, Melanie A. Harrison, being of crazy mind and body do hereby bequeath my intelligence, wit, and my fun and craziness in high school to my little (ha!) brother, Jamie. Have fun kid!

I, Hope Hart, will my presidency of the Nike Club to Karla Hart.

I, Buddy Haynes, will my art ability to Dennis Graves.

Spy boats, green goats, I think it's time, I, Tom Watkins, leave to Scott Gaddy my ability to rhyme.

I, Don Hill, being in unique control of sound mentality will my big plays and shuffle-steps to Coach Baker's varsity team in the years to come.

I, Robin Hiner, will my partying ability to Chris Pantle. Go for it, Chris!

I, David Howard, will all my carpentry skills to Lloyd Hayes.

I, Jeff James, will my non-flammable football jersey to Kevin Haws to keep from getting "burned."

I, Mark Johnson, will my discipline, trail flipper, and mental preparedness to Monty Beck. "Use them well."

I, Keith Kelly, of sound body and small mind leave my ability to make bad grades in Wooten's English class to anyone stupid enough to take it.

I, Kevin Newberry, being of sound mind do so will my great height and basketball abilities to Brad Blankenship for future use while he sits the bench next year.

I, Kelly Newman, will my ability to drive safely to Tena Sandwell. Everyone knows she'll need it.

I, Charlie Olzawski, being of clean mind and healthy body, will my charm, shyness, good manners, politeness, modesty and my abilities to have fun at Monty Beck's parties to Jeff Roberts. He, also, gets the lawn mowing duties.

I, Frank Osburn, being of sound mind and body leave nothing to the underclassmen at Hilldale High because I have nothing to leave.

I, Janet Pace, will my ability to have fun my senior year to Kathryn Harder.

I, Shawn Pumphrey, being of disturbed mind and unhealthy body will my ability to flunk tests without even trying to Lori Gibson (may she use it in good health) and my crutches to Mrs. Watson who wishes she was tall enough to use them.

I, Grant Rackley, of sound mind and sore booty do hereby leave my basketball bench cushion to Brad Blankenship and my trumpet playing ability to Tony Townsend who must share it every other day with Chuck John.

I, Grady Reynolds, do hereby will my punctualness, attentativeness, unlazy behavior, and all of my many other library skills to any future library aide who will use them as I did.

I, Shellie Rich, will my patience with Brock Talbert to Debbie Hodges to use with Monty Beck.

I, Stacy Shelton, will my cowboy boots and good horse sense to Chris Allen.

I, Butch Shiew, will the ability to do something right to Byron Nelson and Doug David. Doug also gets my great way of getting mentally prepared.

I, Michele Shultz, will my shyness and quietness to any loud mouth junior that needs it.

I, Barry Smith, being of quiet mind and no body will my musical ability to Chip Reid and Andy Rackley.

I, Angela Stiles, will my ability to attend class every day to Michelle Sisk.

I, Brock Talbert, being of somewhat scrambled mind and soft body will the title of "Class Flirt" to Monty Beck, may he flirt to the best of his ability.

I, Pam Tilley, will my purple overalls and tennis shoes to my brother.

I, Shelle Uelsmann, will Butch Shiew to the Class of 1984.

I, Sheryl Wiedel, leave the ability to find a husband to my sister Karen.

I, Judy Woods, being of sound? mind will Earl Cobb to the junior class.

I, Teresa Zaleta, will my height to Michelle Sisk.

classics of 1982-83

"Dirty Laundry," Rocky III, and polos were among the twenty favorites of the eighties that turned on the seniors. Favorite clothes, hangouts, cars, songs, video games, and classes were revealed.

Wardrobe was significant. Everything from T-shirts to "preppy clothes" was worn. Levi's, polos, and Izods were the most popular among the crowd. McDonalds with its golden arches and good ole "home sweet home" rated tops on the list for favorite hangouts.

Almost any sunny day caught members of this clan out polishing and giving those cars a good scrubbing. Corvettes, Mustangs, and Cameros gained a position for that treasured piece of metal and fiberglass.

"Wauka, Wauka" could be heard almost anywhere one went those days including grocery stores and restaurants. It was the familiar sound of none other than Pac-Man as well as Ms. Pac-Man. Defender, another video game, scored high with the group, too.

Journey and Alabama rated highest for the best musical groups.

Feels So Right by Alabama and Journey's Escape spun with the seniors' approval of favorite albums. "Truly," "Dirty Laundry," "I Get Excited," and "Don't Fight It" rated at the top in the category of songs.

Clicking on the set for an evening of TV left the group tuning in for Dynasty, Benny Hill, and Square Pegs.

Through the excitement, laughter, and sometimes tears, movies shown this this year made their mark on all who saw them. E.T., Rocky III, and Animal House were enjoyed the most.

Vocational training and accounting scored high on the students' list of favorite classes.

Pride and fun were demonstrated through many different school activities. Football, basketball, and baseball were the favorites.

everyone needs money!

Paying off those new wheels, saving for a college education, earning some extra spending money, or whatever the reason may have been, Hilldale claimed its share of working students.

Familiar faces could be seen in the local discount stores and in the popular restaurants around town.

Did those teenagers enjoy sacrificing their running around or their cruisin' with their friends? Rodney McCaslin said he didn't mind because he liked the money.

Getting every other weekend off and time away from work for baseball se son was the reward Kevin Newber received from Johnson's Discount Foo for the late hours that he worked.

Brent Featherston joined Rand Thompson in helping out at Mazzio's P za.

Cindy Broaddus and Grady Reynol were in control at Mr. Buck's Conv nience Store. They shared a variety tasks from serving chicken and sandwiches to operating the self-serve gas pumps.

Rodney McCaslin tied on his apron and whipped up some good vittles at Okies.

Our seniors proved that teaming up can be successful. Wal-Mart accepted help from Hilldale students, Greg Martin and Steve Maples.

Mark Maples offered his services to K-Mart. Many days after work, Mark would see green — from looking at all the plants and flowering shrubs in the gardening department.

Robert Hodges was found making music as a disc jockey at the Stardust Skating Arena on the west side of town.

Stacy Shelton had a variety of tasks to perform while she worked at the high school.

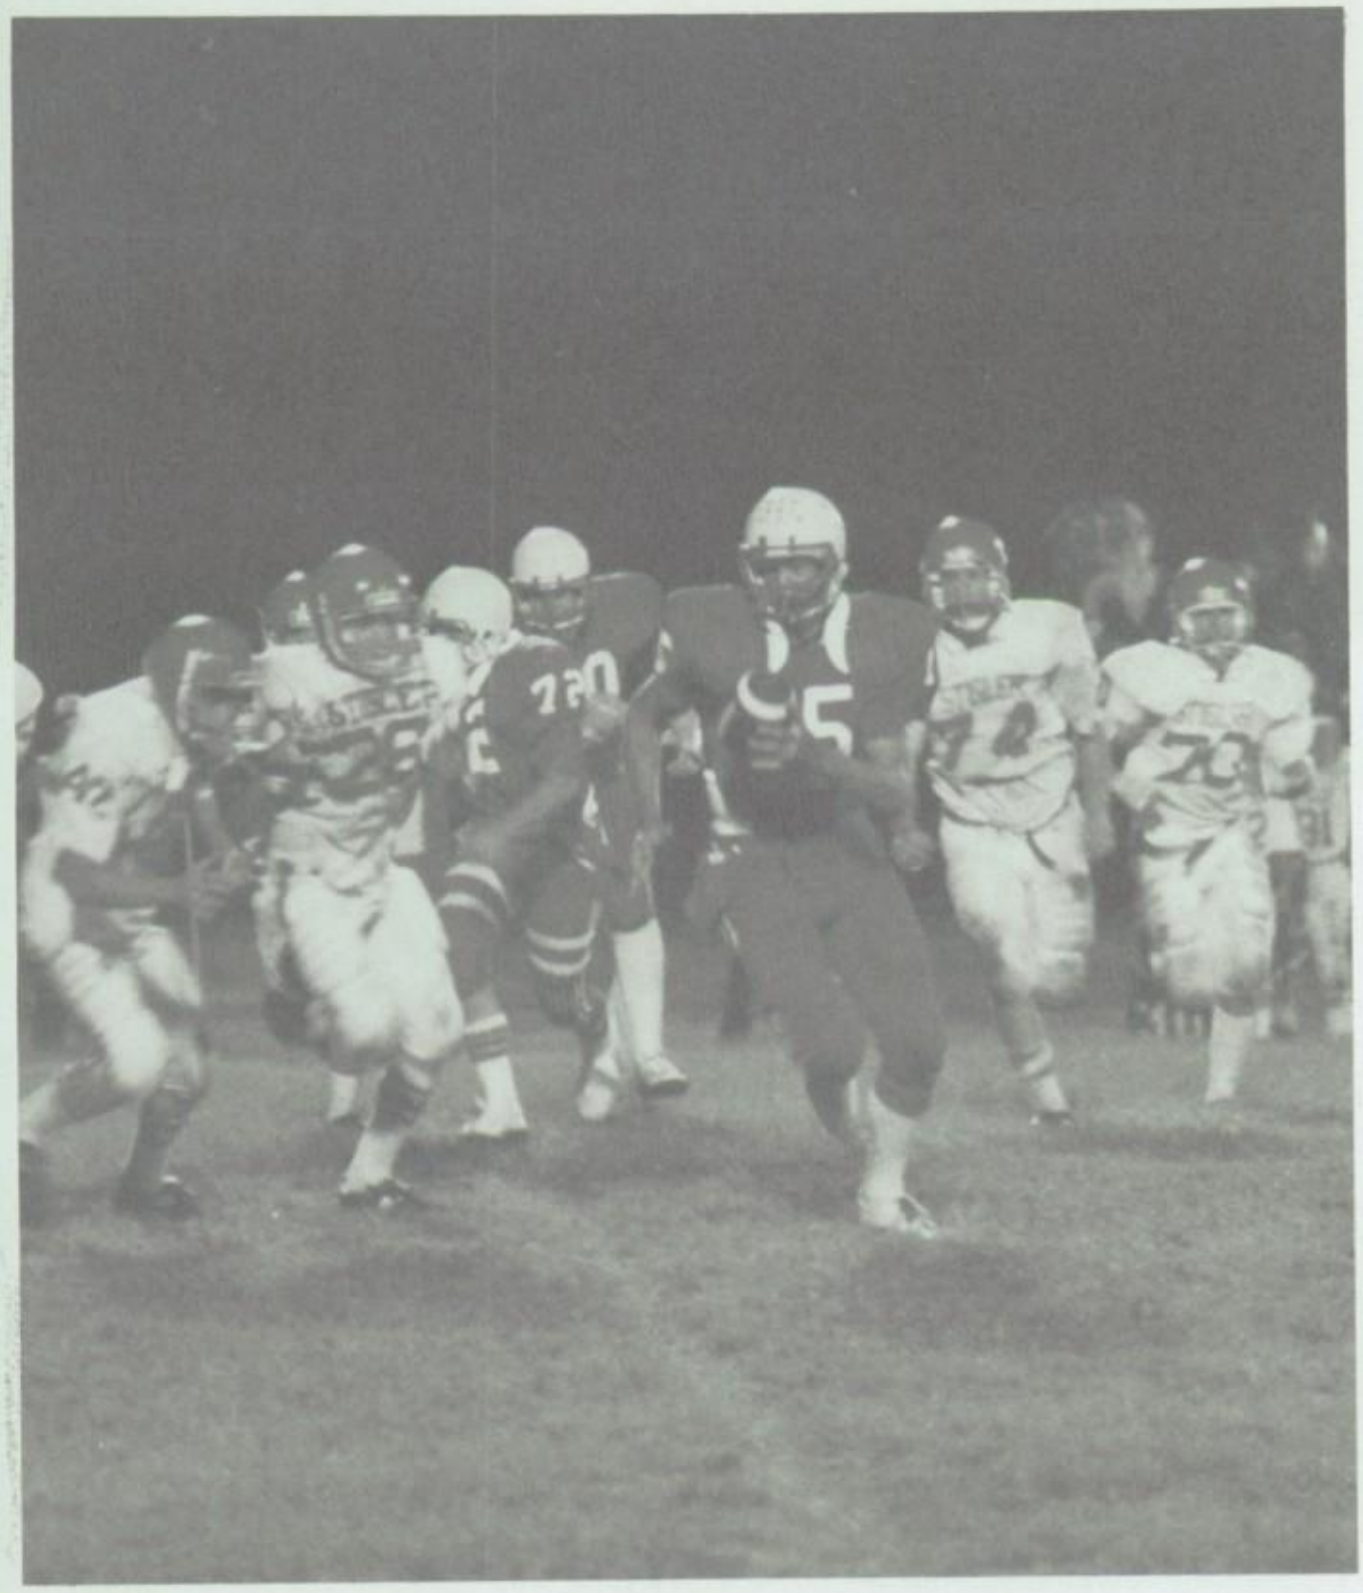
SPORTS



Tradition continues! The Hilldale Hornet Football Team had a winning season again this year. With the addition of a new head coach, Ben Baker, and a new assistant coach, Clayton Edwards, the Hornets were able to steal victory away from the grasp of six out of ten of their opponents. The Hornets had nine starters return this season. This meant that only five new men had to be broken in since eight of the nine returning played on both the offensive and defensive teams.

Despite the fact that three key starters sustained injuries in the fifth game that knocked them out of the Hornet lineup for the remainder of the season, the Hornets maintained their winning record.

HUSTLE MAKES UP FOR LACKING SIZE

The desire to win was what kept our boys on top this season. The team escaped the normal injuries, and this helped to keep our starting line up stable.

Even though they lacked the towering height of last year's team, the Hornets made up for it with teamwork, hustle, and rebounding. The combined shooting talents of Rodney McCaslin and Shawn Pumphrey helped to make our average game score fifty-two points.

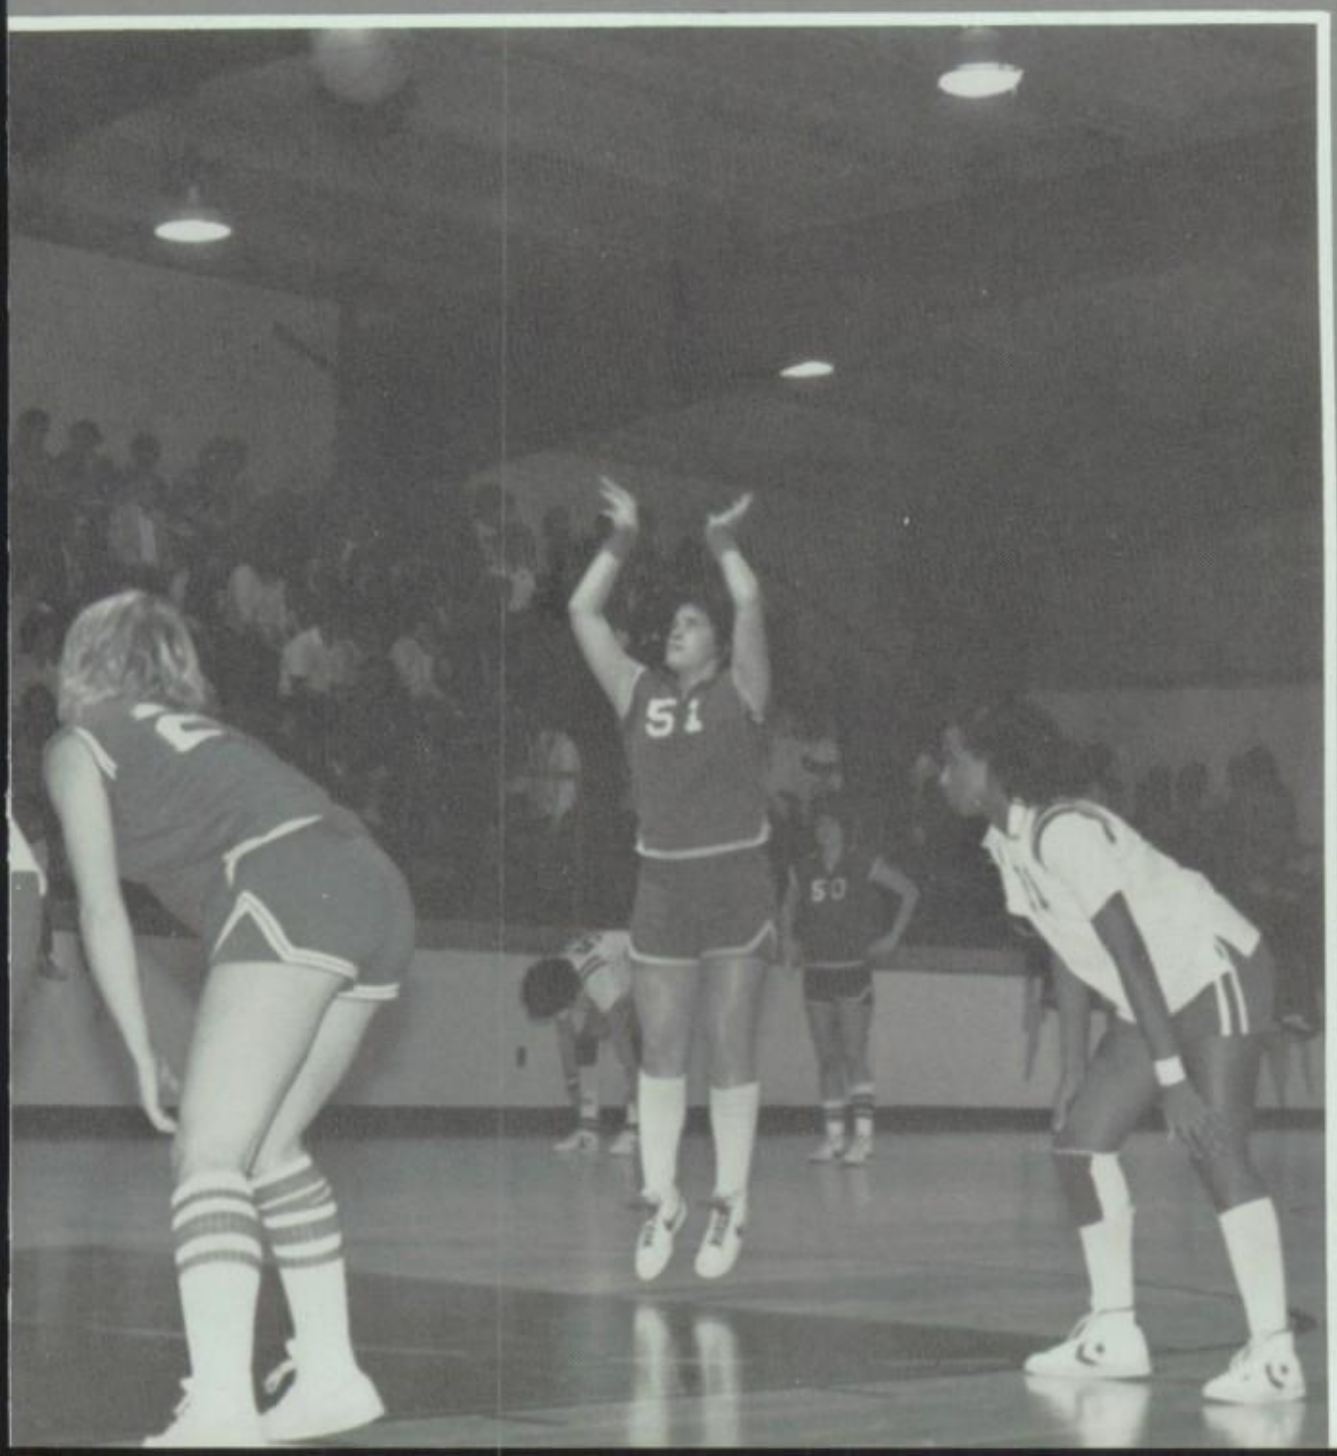
LADY HORNETS CAN BOUNCE TO VICTORY



With the pound of a basketball and the squeak of a tennis shoe on a hard wood court, the girls' basketball team trudged through another exciting season. This year they worked their way to be able to compete in the regional finals held at the Civic Center here in Muskogee.

Finishing with an overall record of 9 wins and 16 losses, the Lady Horners had an enjoyable year. When asked about the season, Senior Stacy Shelton replied, "It was a lot of hard work, but worth it all."

Overall the Middle School had a losing season, with the 7th grade girls 0-5, boys 3-6, 8th grade girls 4-7, boys 3-6

In a stampeding season the Varsity Hornet Track Team, under the guidance of Coach Day, hurdled past their opponents.

Even though, at many track meets the Horners were out-ranked by bigger schools as large as 3A and 4A, they always finished superbly.

With a journey to the state track meet, the 1600 meter relay team of Gwen Moses, Teresa Chapple, Audrey Porter, and Dana Wake captured 6th place; Audrey Porter placed 5th in the 800 meter dash; Ronna Bryson won 8th place in the Shot put and stole 7th place in the discus event.

The Lady Horners performed well at several contests and managed to "track" down a couple of first place finishes.

Although the boys' team was relatively young, they showed that a smaller school can be a threat against larger class schools in the track division.

Out of 151 teams, at 3A regional competition, the newly formed girls' cross country team qualified for state competition held at Oral Robert's University.

Travelling to the regional tournament at Oolagah, the girls' team placed as follows: 3200 meter relay- 2nd place: Gwen Moses, Susan Ayers, Teresa Chapple, and Audrey Porter; 1600 meter relay- 2nd place: Gwen Moses, Teresa Chapple, Audrey Porter, and Dana Wake; High jump- 2nd place: Dana Wake; 800 meter dash- 3rd place: Audrey Porter, and Gwen Moses placed 4th; Shot put- 4th place: Ronna Bryson; and Discus- 2nd place: Ronna Bryson.

During the boys' regional contest, the Hornets put forth their best effort and placed as follows: 400 meter run- 4th place: Brent Webster; High jump- 4th place: Scott Farmer; 1600 meter relay- 5th place: David Dunlap, Kevin Haws, Jeff Light, and Brent Webster.

Class rivalries got off to a good start early in the year. Competition between the classes included everything from climbing a greased pole to carving the most jack-o-lanterns.

For the greased pole contest, each class had a three or four member team. The object was to climb the greased pole and get the spirit towel from the top.

The junior class was the first to retrieve the towel for 100 points. The sophomore and freshman classes each received 50 points for their fruitless efforts. The seniors received zero points, even though they reached the top first. They were caught using illegal tactics and were disqualified. They were seen lifting a member of their team up the pole instead of climbing it.

Members of the senior team were Grady Reynolds, Jeff James, and Sheryl Wiedel. Juniors were Mike Martin, Lisa Taylor, Marsha Wakely, and Rigoberto Diaz. The sophomore team included Gina Roberts, Audrey Porter, David Reitnauer, and Brent Rodden. The freshman team members were Shane Tompson, Matt Henderson, Candi Crossland, and Keeley Tatum.

The junior and senior classes sponsored a powderpuff football game to raise money for the prom. The juniors were the challengers and picked up some freshmen to help them out. The seniors recruited the sophomores. The final score was 28 to 6 in favor of the senior team. During halftime the fans were entertained by the juniors' all-boy cheering squad and the crowning of the king, Mike Tilley.

Competition mounted as the classes sold sausage, turkey, and hams. Then came the egg drop and the jack-o-lantern contests followed by a canned food drive. When the points were finally counted, the juniors were the victors with 1050 points. A day off from school was their greatest reward. Plans for the day included a picnic at Honor Heights

We "Pride" Ourselves
In Customer Service
"Personal Responsibility In Daily Effort"

Each spring the yearbook staff members grab their best pair of walking shoes, put on their brightest smiles and set out to cover every inch of Muskogee in search of businesses who want to advertise.

When these special businesses are found, the staff members will sell tham a full page, half page, fourth page, eighth page, or patron advertisement in the yearbook. With the selling of these ads, yearbook cost is lowered for each student.

On ad selling days, the yearbook staff breaks up into groups to cover different sections of the city. They enter numerous businesses and are never quite sure if their ad selling campaign will be a success. Quite often they are successful. Then the owner of the business has to choose what size ad to purchase and what should go in the ad.

The ads are then assigned to yearbook members to design and put on pages. Much time is spent making sure each and every advertisement is just right. When perfection is reached, the pages are sent to the plant in Topeka, Kansas, for the actual printing.

The advertisers in our yearbook displayed pride in our school by spending their money to support us. Their efforts are valued and greatly appreciated.

12 YEARS

Nineteen members of the senior class have gone to Hilldale schools for the past twelve years. They started in first grade and grew as the system did.

Janet Pace commented, "It's been a lot of fun. I made a lot of good friends and have many good memories."

Most seniors felt as Grant Rackley did. "... I'm relieved that I made it through."

The nineteen members of the senior class who started to Hilldale in 1971 included Wayne Adams, Lori Barton, Cindy Broaddus, Jacky Cantwell, Ken Cooper, Beverly Davis, Scott Farmer, Fran Glasgow, Shelley Graves, Keith Kelly, Mark Maples, Steve Maples, Janet Pace, Grant Rackley, Shellie Rich Talbert, Butch Shiew, Rae Lyn Stansifer, Pam Tilley, and Judy Woods.

As these seniors prepared to leave Hilldale, they shared mixed emotions. Some were a combination of joy and sadness — others relief and regret.

1ST DAY!

"Totally different!" was how freshman Chip Reid described the first day of school.

Sophomore Debbie Hodges said, "It's good to see all the new guys, and the old ones, too."

Lisa Waters, sophomore, expressed the same feelings. "It's been a lot of fun to get back and see everyone."

Others didn't want it to start. "I didn't want it to start because the sooner it starts, the sooner it's over," stated senior Scott Farmer.

HEE HAWS

Red noses and painted faces were not just a part of clowning around. Boosting school spirit and entertaining at Junior High football games were the main objectives of Hilldale's Hee-Haws.

The capers performed by the Hee-Haws included a variety of pantomines, pyramids, tumbling, simple gymnastics and slapstick comedy.

The 7th and 8th grade speech students who made up the Hilldale Hee-Haws were David Austin, Billy Bennett, Kama Blankenship, Jennifer Bockius Jennifer Colbert, April Earnest, Sherry Earnest, Kristi Freeman, Jason Gautney, Cathy Gibson, Carol Henderson, Butch Meadows, Lee Munson, David Prior, Kathy Reid, Chris Reid, Robert Smalley, Rachel Trzcinski, Chris Turton, Cathy Wehrle, Jarrod White, Missy Williams, Chris Winkle, Debbie Yarbrough, Donnie Yarbrough, Gerald Cruse, Kelly Pipkins, Johnny Moore, Jennifer King, Tony Combs.

1982-83 was full of varied events. Events ranged from science fairs to dress up days, from speakers to special classroom experiences. Yes, the year was a full one and we were all there together.

One of the activities that occupied our time was guest speakers. They came from almost every place imaginable and filled us with new and different ideas and dreams. They shared information about college, jobs, and even how to get along with each other. There was even a multi-media show on "Ever-Day Heroes". A career week, sponsored by the school, brought business men from around the community to share their knowledge with us.

Another favorite at Hilldale was science fairs. Young, enterprising minds theorized problems and solved them with amazing capabilities. Many students went on to compete in regional science fairs and some did well in this also.

Everyone enjoys a change from the normal and dress-up days certainly did not disappoint us. Many organizations and groups sponsored dress-up days for many different reasons but they all resulted in a very different looking student body. One dress-up day the students and faculty were to dress up as a character in a book, another like a punk-rocker.

Special days at Hilldale ranged from the dramatizations of wars and battles to a milder day of writing with quill pens by candle light. Special days were those days when all you did was watch films or read a book. Without these days school would be lacking.

Yes, the year was full of many different days involving many different people. This is exactly what it took to bring a big group of people together to form the 1982-83 Hilldale High School Student Body!

ACADEMICS

Building a model of the Globe Theater was a tedious job for some English students who were studying Shakespearean plays. After studying Greek mythology, other students made their own slide presentations based on their favorite myths. These two projects were just a few of the activities that kept academics lively and interesting for the students.

This year's new library organization, Media Mania, sponsored several activities that got the students involved and promoted school spirit. One of the most popular was the legs' contest won by senior Robert Hodges. Participants had their risque pictures displayed in the cafeteria where students paid ten cents for each vote cast.

The industrial art classes made everyone proud of their competition at Oklahoma State University in April. Red ribbons, as well as blue, were brought home marking the superior and excellent ratings of the projects.

Pride in winning was continued when sophomore, Lisa Waters, entered a make it with wool contest. After placing first in her division at the district level in Muskogee, she went on to compete at the state level in Oklahoma City where she placed third.

Students found academics to be more than reading and writing. They were a challenge that really developed "pride inside."

YOUNG EINSTEINS EXCELL

Egg drops and science fairs were just a couple of projects that kept the science department from becoming dull book work for the students.

Fascinated kids, along with some teachers, watched as a coiling creature wrapped itself around the waist of Mary Bonds, a docent for the Tulsa zoo. The boa constrictor visited all of Mrs. Hollingworth's classes.

Catching a glimpse of the walls in Mr. Holland's room, one might think they were taking a walk on the moon. Large murals covered the once bare enclosure.

"Eggberts" were awarded to winners of the first annual Hilldale High School egg dropping contest. Participants made containers four inches by four inches that could hold one grade-A large egg. Interiors consisted of everything from shaving cream to slime. The eggs could not be boiled and the obstacals to overcome were a twenty foot ladder, a forty foot fire tower, and Honor Heights' eleven story tower. Students had only seconds to show that their egg had survived the fall. Sophomore John Shackleford captured first place victory, Joe Westhoff, also a sophomore, won second place. While third place was shared by junior, Lisa Toney; sophomore, Randy Prior; and freshman, Chip Reid.

"Can Carnivorous Plants Survive Without Meat?" was the name of the project that earned Amy Gibson a trip to Ada for the state science fair. Lynne Gibson also took her project, "Inreritance in Drosophild."

PREMISE

CLUBS KEPT ON THE MOVE

"Believe to Achieve" was the theme of FHA's state convention in Oklahoma City. Dr. James L. Kern addressed advisors on understanding teenagers and spoke to the students about setting goals. Local members raised money by selling suckers for the March of Dimes and sponsoring a Valentine's dance.

Planting trees and cleaning up in front of the school were tasks undertaken by the National Honor Society. Selected on the basis of service, leadership, character, and scholarship, new members were installed with a special ceremony in the spring. Accepted as new members were Pam Tilley, Rodney McCaslin, DeAnn Andrews, Darrin McDaniel, Joe Westhoff, Scott Farrner, Teresa Zaleta, Stacy Shelton.

Tests given before school let Oklahoma Mathematic League participants examine their skills.

"Digital Dreamers" was the title adopted by the computer club. Anderson Wholesale received a visit from the group to see their computer in action.

JUNIOR HIGH ACTIVITIES

Pilgrims of earlier times thought they had a nice Thanksgiving, but they haven't seen anything until they have visited Dorothy Allen's seventh grade American history classes. The Thanksgiving Feast was held in conclusion of the chapter studied about pilgrims and the hardships endured on their way to America. As these early settlers contributed to the meal, each student provided a portion of the food. Time was taken to remember the ones who cleared the land and built a strong democratic government.

Congressman Mike Synar accepted an invitation to speak to the middle school students about government fundamentals. The youngsters were permitted to ask questions about current government issues. His visit reinforced the information taught in the government section of their American history class.

Mrs. Dixon's geography classes made maps this year, while Janet Allen's home economics students learned how to cook and sew.

Smoking, traffic, and cars of the future were the subjects of entries for contests in Mrs. Dodson's art department. Cartoon books, foil pictures, posters, and charcoal pencil skerches were only a few of the projects the developing artists created. They also did macrame, leather crafts, God's eyes, and clay. These young Picasso's also displayed acrylic paintings in an art exhibit.

"FIFTIES SILHOUETTE"

"Silhouettes of the Fifties" was presented with pride by the junior and senior classes with assistance from the music department. Shadows of dancing figures with pony tails and duck tails filled the surroundings. Records were placed atop checkered table cloths while waitresses, decked in poodle skirts and bobby socks, served dinner each evening of the three night performances.

"Bye Bye Birdie" began when Uncle Sam claimed a famous rock star of the fifties and the army drafted Conrad Birdie, played by Rodney McCaslin.

Kim MacAfee, played by Kelly Newman, was chosen at random from Conrad's fan club to get a kiss from him before he left for the service.

Meanwhile, news of Kim's prize traveled fast over the telephone in Sweet Apple, Ohio, to Hugo Peabody, Kim's steady, played by Darrin McDaniel.

Conrad made his big arrival on a mororcycle with his body guard, Jacky Cantwell. They were escorted by policeman, Toby Hadley.

Kim finally got her kiss and her jealous boyfriend hit Conrad in the jaw, jolting him to the floor. When the lights came on, "Kids" was performed by the young actors and actresses summing up the musical.

"The Jazz Singer" was the feature number that bid farewell to another successful dinner theater.

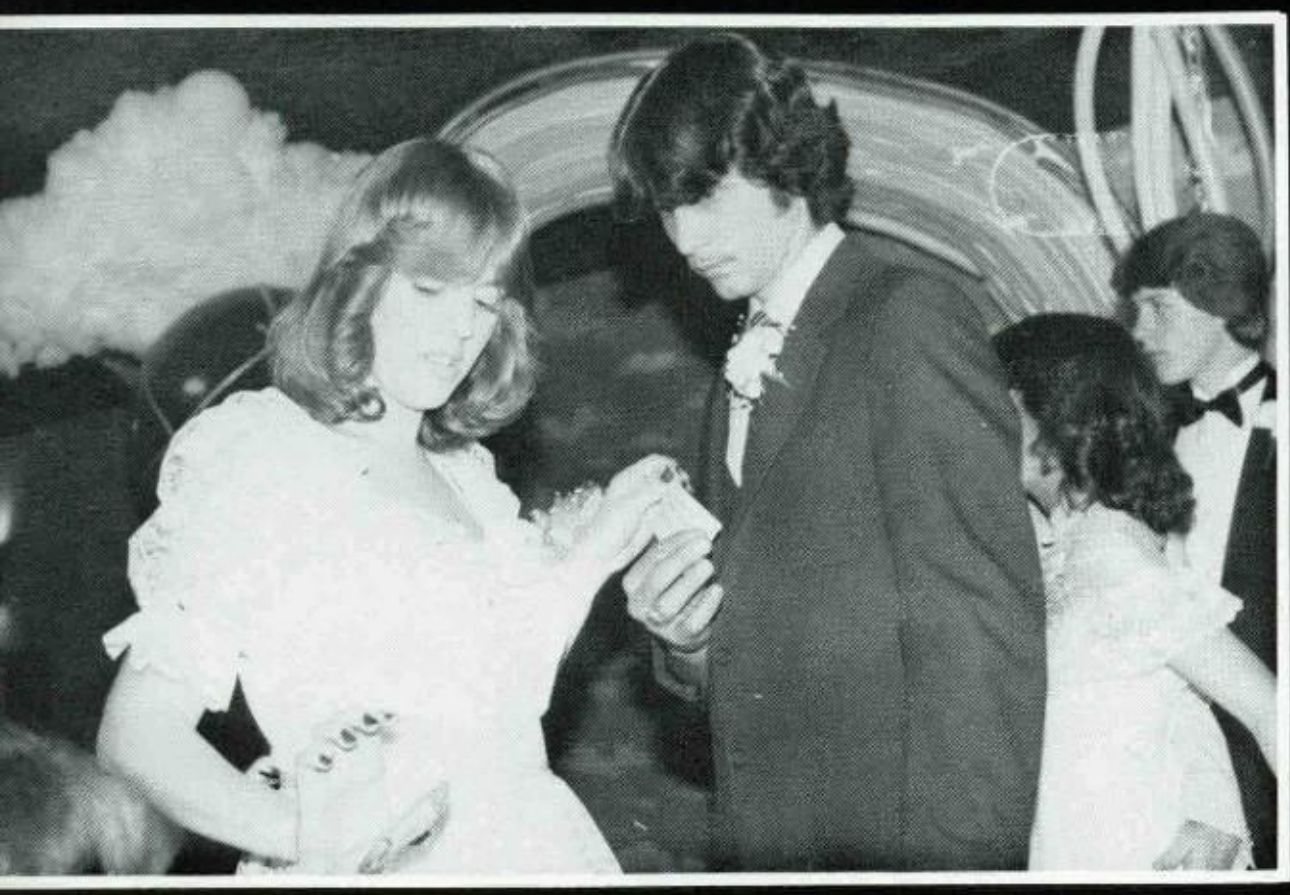
OUR DRIFTING DREAMS

PRIDE INSIDE



Floating clouds, helium balloons, and drifting dreams filled the halls of the Elks Lodge during the second annual junior-senior prom.

Pastel colors and cloud-covered crepe paper covered the walls and ceilings to carry out the theme of "Drifting Dreams."

The Red Line Band provided the music. When asked what she thought of the prom, Angela Stiles replied, "I thought it was excellent. No one has ever danced like that before. I had fun. It was freaky."

Jaci Lunday added, "It was lots of fun and really neat to see everyone all dressed up."

The big event of the evening was the balloon drop. Hundreds of balloons were dropped to the dance floor at midnight. Jacky Cantwell remarked, "It was great, super, cosmic, killer, awesome."

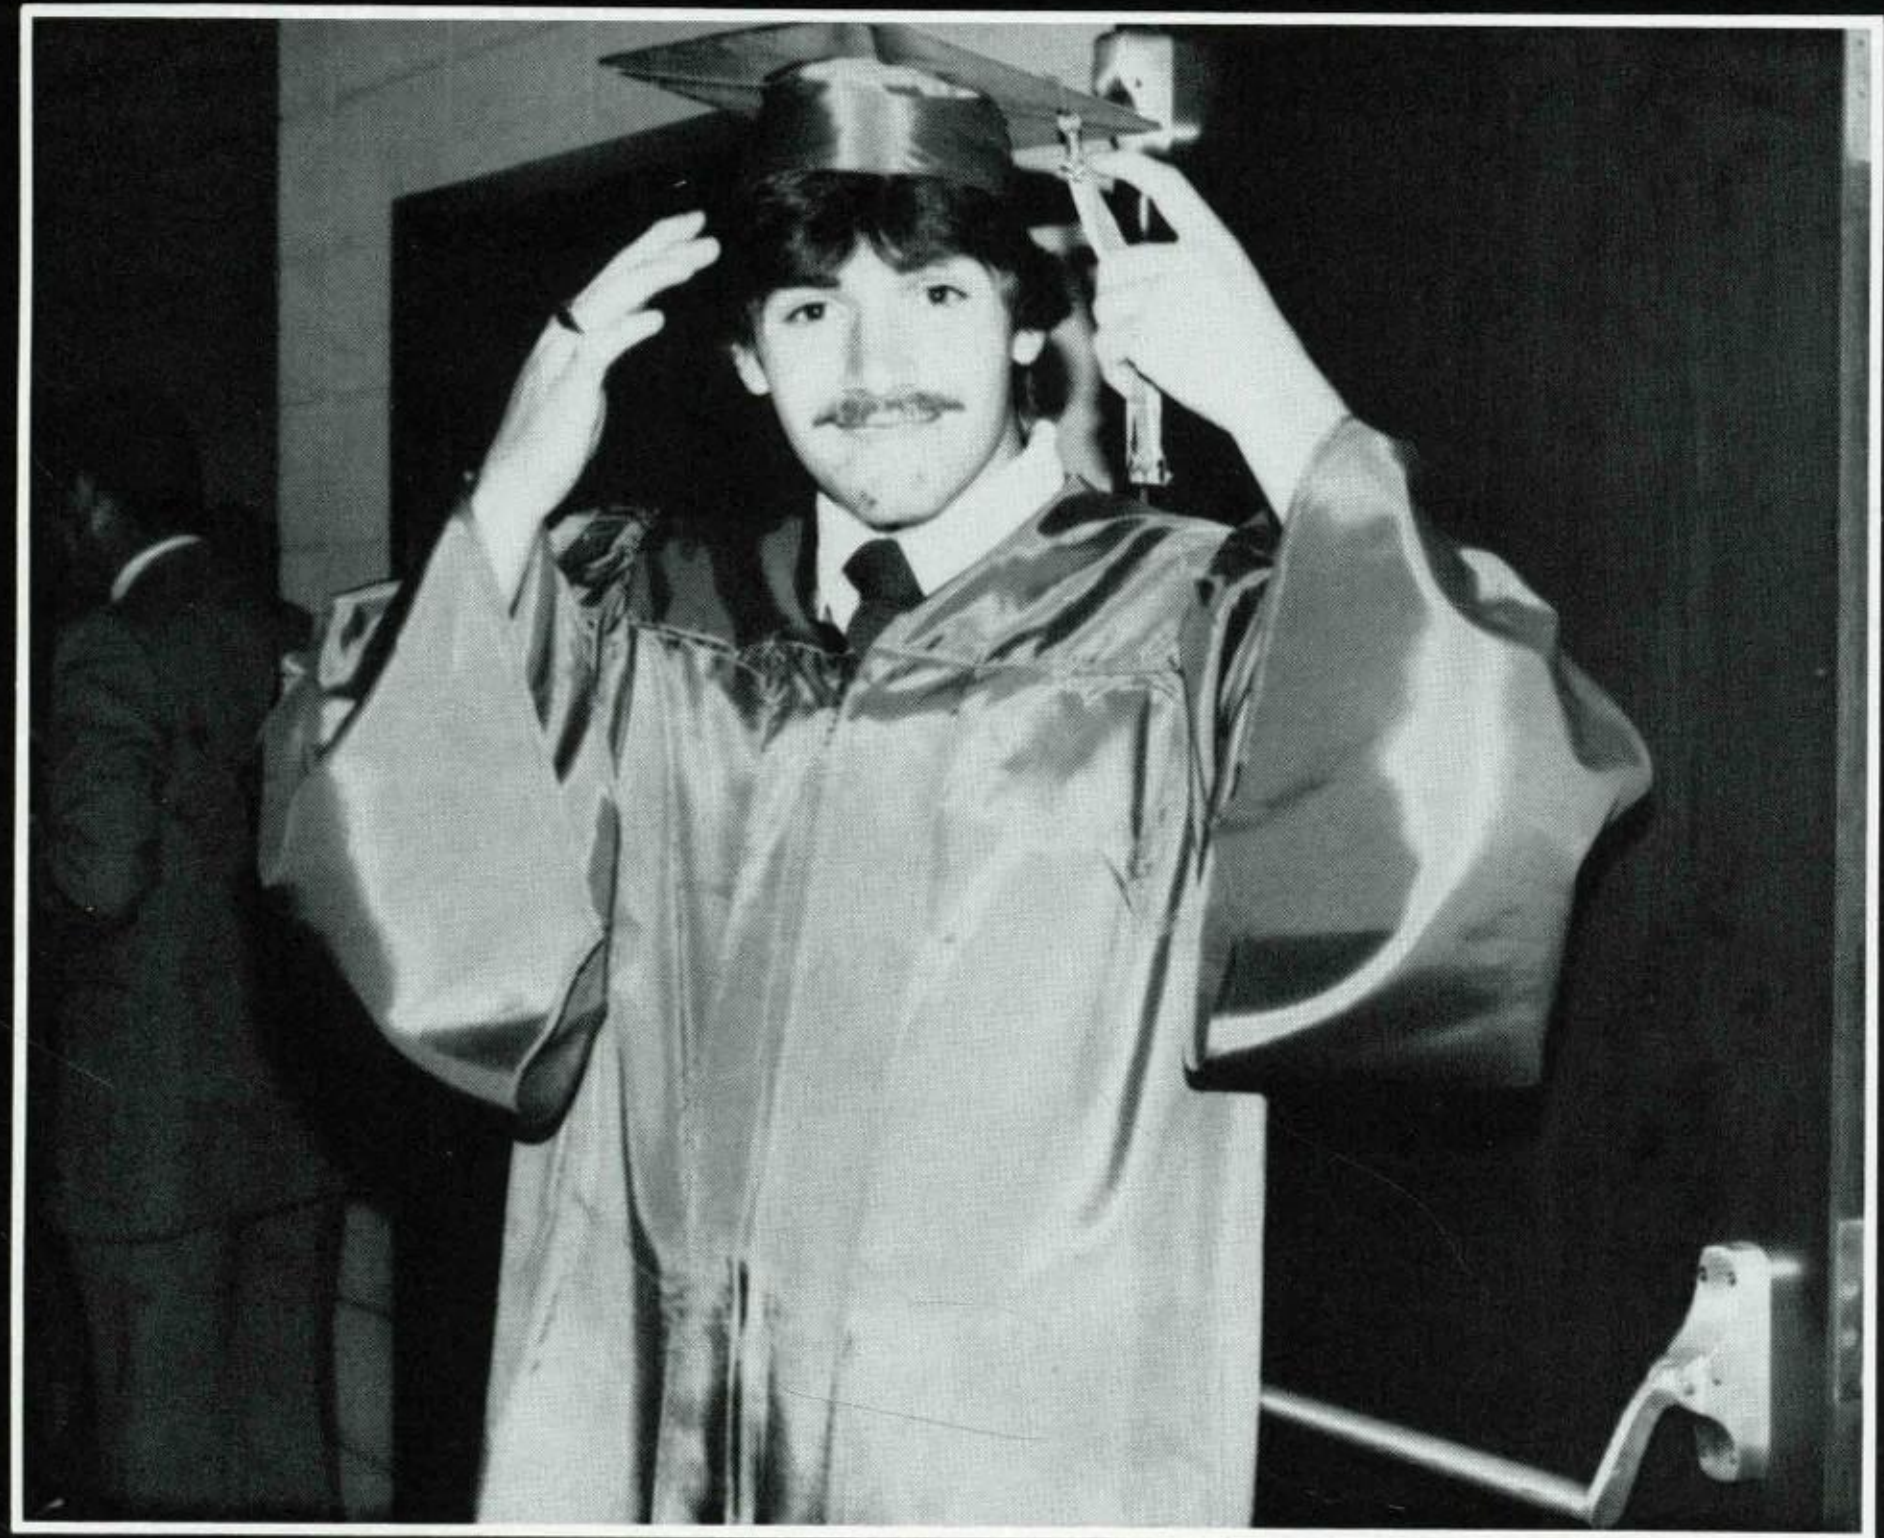
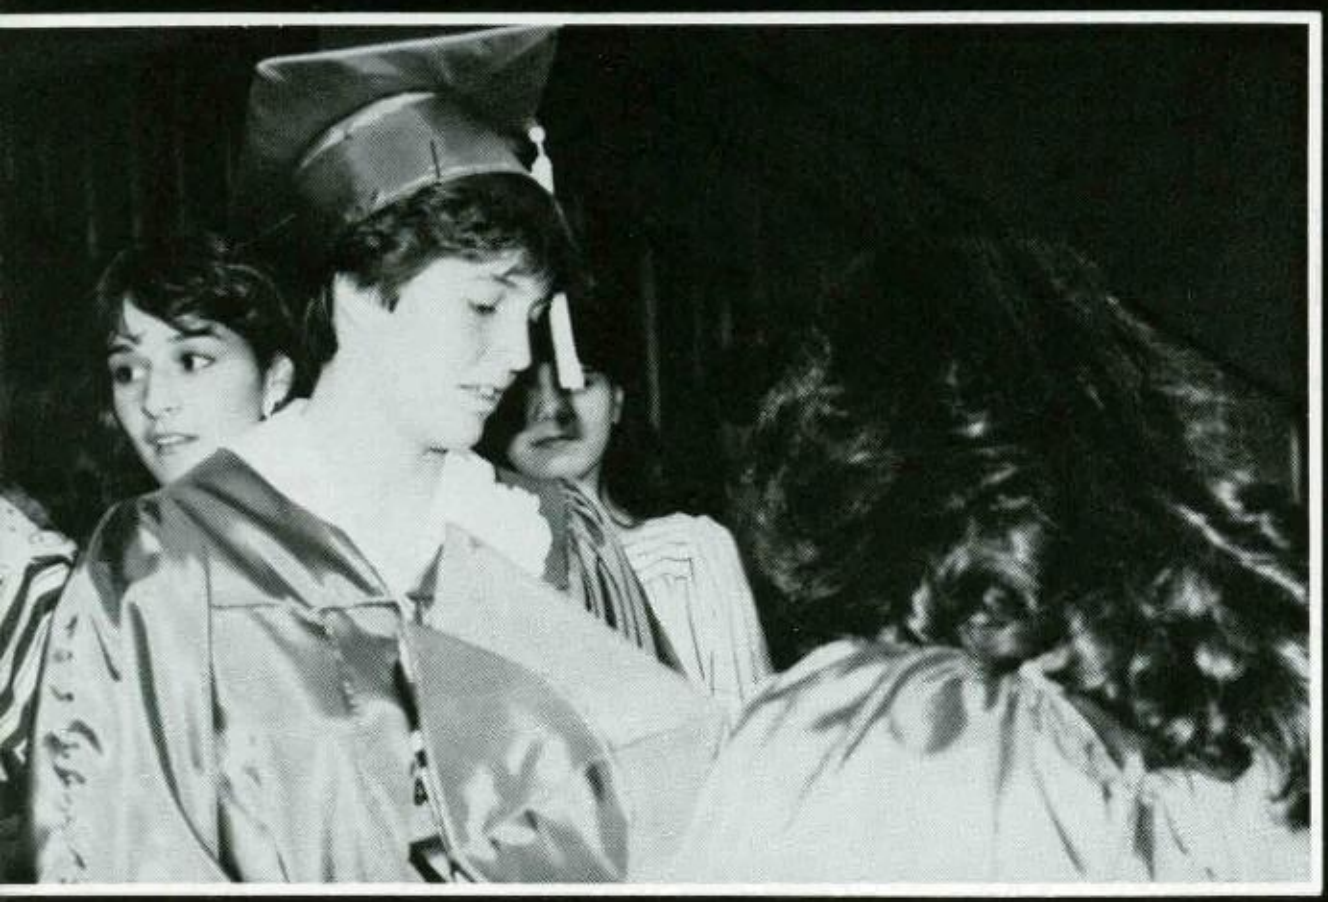
WE DID IT



PRIDE INSIDE



Graduation! Every senior had looked forward to it for so long. Suddenly, some were faced with mixed emotions.

Melissa Dixon stated, "I couldn't wait 'til it got here, but I miss it now that it's gone."

Senior sponsor, Kitty Freeling, said, "I felt both sad and happy. Sad because of losing them from our student body; happy because they've started fulfilling their life's ambitions."

"I've waited for it all my life," said Scott Farmer.

It was a time of joy and a time of sadness. Some felt relief, others were not sure what they felt. But none could go back. They had waited, graduation had come, and they must move on. All going their separate ways to fulfill their life's dreams.

THE DAY IS NEAR

The time has come, the day is near,
All my friends will be gathered here.
We'll all be dressed in gowns of red,
With caps and tassels on our head.
Most will be sad and some will cry,
Some will walk our with a sigh.
Friends will part and go separate ways,
But we'll always remember our high school days.
